

Daisy Flores is serving her second term as the Gila County Attorney. She attended the University of Arizona on the prestigious Flinn Scholarship where she earned her B.A. and M.A. in Near Eastern Studies, in 1993 and 1994 respectively, and her law degree in 1997. She developed a love for prosecution while working in the Gila County Attorney's office during law school. She returned in 1997 as a full-time prosecutor until 2000 when she moved to Texas to practice for a private law firm in the Dallas area. In 2001 Daisy returned to Arizona and her hometown of Globe as the Chief Deputy Gila County Attorney and a short time later became the Gila County Attorney. She is a member of the Texas State Bar, Arizona Bar and the San Carlos Tribal Bar. She was recently appointed by Arizona Governor Janet Napolitano to serve on the Governor's Latino Advisory Council and the Oversight Council on DUI Abatement. In her free time she competes in fencing. She has won numerous national competitions and represented the United States at the 2002 World Championships. She was appointed by the Arizona Supreme Court to the Disciplinary Commission in 2005.
